start-process

Self-explanatory script. This script will start a process. There is a switch included after the process A1. This can be removed and only really applies if the developers have added selectable buttons and assigned switches. A1 is a common parameter which will select the first option and is typically the "Accept", "Run" or "Yes" button.